

CLEAR Space

JTH Lighting Alliance, one of the nation's largest independent manufacturer's representatives of lighting and controls, is pleased to announce the opening of CLEAR Space. "We are thrilled to finally offer our industry partners a collaborative space for the exploration of lighting and controls in the heart of the city", states Jon Kirkhoff, Principal at JTH.

Jon continues by saying, "This unique space will offer our design, contracting and end user community a space for education, training and the mocking up of lighting and controls systems in coordination with important decorative and architectural elements".
