Universal Douglas Lighting Customers,

It is with great sadness that, today, we announced that we will be ceasing operations at Universal Douglas Lighting Americas, Inc. (Formally known as Universal Lighting Technologies and Douglas Lighting Controls) after several decades of service to the commercial lighting industry. All manufacturing operations will cease immediately and our facilities across North America are estimated to close by July 2023.

As we move towards winding down operations, we ask that you continue to support our Company and its stakeholders with same high level of partnership that has characterized our relationship for years. We are committed to filling as many outstanding customer orders as possible and maximizing recovery value on asset sales.

A dedicated UDLA representative will be contacting you over the coming days to discuss open orders, customer accounts payable owed, dedicated finished goods inventory on hand, and assets for sale, amongst others.

Should you have any immediate questions, please email them to:

AR@universaldouglas.com

Please bear in mind that these are extremely stressful times for our employees as we finish production. We would like to be as communicative as possible with you and your teams and are available for any inquiries you may have about this process.

Sincerely,

Steve Wybo
Chief Restructuring Officer
