Subject: Price Increase Announcement

Many industries continue to be impacted by inflationary pressures in the marketplace. We are fully committed to providing high-quality products and services, and we routinely engage in efforts to mitigate, reduce, or limit the adverse impacts of such pressures on our offerings. Despite our diligent attempts, we continue to encounter escalating costs in certain areas of our business.

Therefore, we are announcing the following:

Effective December 4, 2023, a price increase will be applied to many of our lighting controls product families and a subset of our luminaire product families, across multiple brands. This does not include lighting controls or luminaires within our Contractor Select™ portfolio of products. Specific price increase amounts will vary by product family. The last day for the release of orders at current prices is December 1, 2023.

All outstanding quotes are subject to review at time of order.

Acuity Brands remains committed to supporting our relationship and providing open communication. We will continue to closely monitor market conditions and communicate any changes that may occur.
